

FLORIDA NATURAL AREAS POSTERS

by Linda C. Duever

Two handsome new posters, in full color, have been created by artist-writer Linda C. Duever in order to announce and help finance her book now in preparation: A Guide to Natural Florida.

The cover illustration is an actual-size detail of one of the 19x25 posters. The posters illustrate a cross-section through a freshwater swamp and through a coastal dune. Typical plants and animals are shown, and notes identify each species. Of particular value to instructors or others who wish to show how these areas function are brief paragraphs on their formation and adaptation to their particular locations.

The posters will make outstanding additions to a home office or den, and they contribute an authoritative message for officials concerned with public education, regulation, advising, or natural area preservation. Business establishments will find them decorative as well as useful for interpreting adjacent natural communities in terms that laypersons can readily understand.

Natural Florida will describe fifteen major Florida natural areas. It will be liberally illustrated and the explanatory text will be written in non-technical language. It is designed to appeal to residents, tourists, officials, consultants, engineers, teachers, students, conservationists, and others who are interested in understanding native plant and animal communities. The retail cost is expected to be less than $10.00 for the 100-page handbook, and the concept has been widely acclaimed.

The swamp and coastal dunes posters are available from Environmental Information Center, 1203 Orange Avenue, Winter Park, Florida 32789, for a minimum contribution of $5.00 each plus $1.00 for mailing up to eight, folded, in an envelope. For mailing up to eight in a tube (rolled, not folded), add $2.00 for mailing.
